

ABOUT AMERICAN CORNERS

American Corners are partnerships between the Public Affairs Section of the United States mission and Moroccan host institutions. The U.S. Consulate in Casablanca maintains an American corner in Marrakech. The purpose of an American Corner is to provide accurate and authoritative information about the United States to the general public in Morocco. Users can find information about American history and culture, or how to study in the U.S., or how to do business with American companies. Most importantly, the Corners provide a convenient location for Americans and Moroccans to share ideas and learn about each other's society and values. In addition to the Marrakech American Corner, the U.S. Embassy in Rabat operates a corner in Oujda.

American Corner collections include books, Internet computer workstations, DVDs, videos, and a multimedia system that in some Corners includes digital videoconferencing equipment. The book collection, which numbers more than 1,000 volumes, includes reference materials, business information, English teaching materials, fiction and literature, books for young adults, and books on the performing arts, to name just a few of the available subjects. The state-of-the-art computer and multimedia equipment affords patrons the opportunity to use the latest technology, and the digital videoconferencing capability can connect Moroccans with virtually anyone else in the world. Corners are open to the general public .
